SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat Too Much Meat, Which Clogs
Kidneys, Then Back Hurts and Bladder Bothers You.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful, effervescent, lithia-water drink, which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

PRESCRIPTIONS NOW

Cost So Much—Good Proprietary Medicines More Widely Used.

War is so expensive, there has never been greater need of saving doctors' bills and prescriptions than there is now. Fewer and fewer people feel that they can afford physicians' prescriptions, they cost so much, and therefore more and more are relying upon proprietary medicines.

Great saving is effected by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla—the efficient blood purifier—Pepsin—a real iron tonic—and Hood's Pills, the family cathartic. These medicines form the famous Combination Treatment for the blood, nerves, stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels. Each is good alone; all are good together.—Adv.

WHAT THEY THINK OF VERMONT.

Out-of-State People Write Their Sentiments.

The following extracts are taken from letters written by persons who have visited Vermont the past summer, or who have requested information from the state publicity bureau, a department in the office of the secretary of state.

A physician from Newark, N. J., writes: "I spent the month of July in Vermont and New Hampshire and am more than ever convinced that yours is the natural playground for those of us who are in the East and who are so situated that our lives are mostly spent in big cities. Your highways are a joy to drive upon. I came into your state from the Berkshires, stopping at Bennington and Manchester, and then drove over to Vermont, finding the country much improved over its condition the previous year, and into New Hampshire to New London. Later I came back to Windsor, visiting the St. Gaudens memorial, and on up to Wells River, St. Johnsbury, Lake Willoughby and Lake Memphremagog. We came home from Sunapee, through White River Junction, Woodstock, Rutland, Manchester, Arlington and Cambridge to Albany. I used your memoranda constantly and found it very helpful."

A New York manufacturer says: "Through the knowledge gained from the booklets sent me during the past summer, I was able to select a place and spend a most enjoyable vacation with my family for one month, from July 15 to August 15, stopping at Windham, Mass., and in Vermont was so delighted that I have sent since my return three other parties to the same place, who are loud in their praises of Vermont in general and Windham in particular. Furthermore, while stopping at Windham, I visited the saw-mills from South Newfane to Londonderry, and have been able to make connections which will likely lead to considerable business in this vicinity."

A Brooklyn woman, referring to Vermont booklets sent, says: "A friend and myself were thus assisted in securing a vacation spot in the vicinity of West Townshend station, where we enjoyed some weeks of recreation in one of Vermont's silent places. Your publications are the most attractive and most satisfying which any information bureau has placed before the public, and where one has been lured by the beauty of Vermont and has known the hospitality of its people, one is scarcely content to go elsewhere for vacation days."

A New York business man writes: "The booklets forwarded at my request were most interesting and largely responsible for some new summer visitors to Vermont. They were so well planned that plans are already being made for returning next season, and in the interval it is expected to interest others in the same direction. I have followed the work of your department with a great deal of interest for several years and feel confident that much good is being accomplished in various directions."

A New York business man sends this appreciation: "I asked for these booklets because of the interest of my entire family in Vermont and our desire to increase our information. This is the eighteenth summer we have spent on our beautiful place at South Woodstock, and some day my wife and I hope to spend six or eight months of every year in the state, with that place as our headquarters. Since locating there we have never seen any other place in any state that we would prefer in comparison for a summer home. We feel that Vermont is the garden spot of New England. It should be developed as such, a place for summer homes, model farms, a recreation place for 'gentlemen farmers' with capital to spare for such interests. For this best development, one thing is essential. Your hills must not be denuded of timber as in New Hampshire and elsewhere, making dreary, monotonous wastes, only fit to be deserted by residents and visitors alike. Another thing is important and would be of immense value in the near future, as summer population increases, that is to keep in payable repair and open for use on horseback and light driving and tramping the miles of fascinating old hill roads in some sections. The Long hill region of Woodstock, Reading and Bridgewater is lined with these roads. Some are impassable, others need only the trimming of branches and brush and a little repair work to put them in excellent condition. These are the 'trails' of the choicest kind, the most ideal bridge paths in the United States—some day a great asset if preserved—even now of very real value. The investment is there and should not be lost."

A Hartford, Conn., man says: "We spent our vacation in Rutland, Vt., and cannot speak too highly of the hospitality we received."

A New York manufacturer writes: "Your booklets enabled me to select a place on the shore of Lake Champlain, Basin harbor, where my family and myself spent a delightful vacation. I would have been at a loss for the location desired without your help."

A New York publisher says: "I spent a very pleasant month this summer in Vermont. I would further say that this was due very largely to your publications, and that these added materially to the interest in my stay. I am quite of the opinion that at least a portion of my next year's vacation will be spent in Vermont."

The head of a well known law school says: "I spent two months in Vermont and your publications were most helpful."

A Charlestown, Mass., woman writes: "I spent a few days in Vermont this summer and found it a very delightful place in which to spend an outing, so much so that I intend to repeat it next year. I am sure there can be no more charming country in which to pass a vacation."

An Orange, N. J., woman writes: "The booklet sent me was of service. It gave me a glimpse of the state and enabled me to enjoy one short trip. We were only passing through to Silver Bay, N. Y., from Winnetoessee lake in New Hampshire, but never have we enjoyed a trip more. We derived the keenest pleasure from that magnificent view from Burlington, where we stayed over night. We wish our stay could have been longer and hope to explore Vermont some other year."

A New York man says: "I have just returned from my auto trip after having spent several very pleasant days in your state at Manchester. Last year I also spent part of my time in touring Vermont and am looking forward to passing many more days there, where the roads are so good and the hotels so comfortable."

A New York state school superintendent spent the summer at East Dover and purchased a camp site there.
A prominent attorney of Albany, N. Y., spent his entire vacation at Waterbury and probably will do so next year. He writes: "You have the most attractive state in the union for a summer rest, and are wisely calling attention to its most attractive feature by these state publications. I receive them with pleasure and read them with interest, and those which I have not rebound for better preservation. I have passed along to my friends."

A New York woman writes: "Your books were of great help to me during my vacation, and I found the country of Vermont very beautiful. I had one of the best vacations that I ever had, at Lake Bomoseen. I hope that next year I will be able to go again."

A Brooklyn man spent a part of his vacation at Lake Mansfield and enjoyed his stay very much. He believes that many people who like out-of-door life would be interested in more definite information concerning the long trail.

The superintendent of schools at Dunkirk, N. Y., writes that the books sent were used in the grades for purposes of instruction.
Some letters are received which say the writers were unable to visit Vermont this year but hope to be able to come next year.

Chancellor James R. Day of Syracuse university writes: "I was disappointed at the last in my plans to cross Vermont. Of course I have been into Vermont several times, around by way of Littleton and down through Montpelier and Burlington, and once through Manchester and out into New Hampshire. It is a wonderful state."

A New Jersey man says: "While personally I did not get to your beautiful state this summer, my brother did and has returned with some satisfactory information. Our plan is to secure two camp sites on one of the lakes and build a little cabin on each. He visited Lake Willoughby and was much pleased with the country there."

In several instances the booklets received, although not used by the person who asked for them, were passed on to others who did come to Vermont.
A New York business man who was unable to come to Vermont on account of changes due to war conditions, writes that the booklets "had been passed around among a large circle of friends, many of whom have expressed a very strong inclination to visit Vermont next season, and I hope to have the same pleasure myself."

RHEUMATISM FOLLOWS ATTACK OF THE GRIP

This Maiden Woman Tells How She Recovered Her Health and Strength.

If you have had an attack of grip, you are not out of danger until your blood is restored to normal.

The grip leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion and over-sensitive nerves—a condition that makes the system an easy prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, rheumatism, nervous prostration and even consumption. Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of strengthening the blood and nerves during convalescence.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are justly regarded as peculiarly adapted to building up the health after a siege of the grip.

Mrs. N. A. Harwood of No. 72 Warren avenue, Malden, Mass., suffered for over a year from after effects of the grip before she found a remedy that restored her health.

"My condition was very serious," she says, "I was all run down and completely worn out. My system was a wreck and I was so weak that recovery seemed impossible. Rheumatism due to my impure and thin blood followed. My appetite was very poor and I lost flesh."

"Finally I recalled having used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills years ago and decided to take them again. After using the first box I could see an improvement and took eight boxes with much benefit. My strength returned, and I feel good now. I have great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and have recommended them to others. I also took Pink Pills, the laxative pill, and think they are fine."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain just the elements needed to build up the blood and restore the lost color and vitality. New energy circulates through the system with the enriched blood, the heart stops its alarming palpitation, color returns to cheeks and lips.

Nothing more is needed except sunlight, good air, proper food and rest. If you do not know exactly what rules to follow in these matters, write to-day to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for booklets on the blood and diet. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.—Adv.

GREEKS KEEP UP PURSUIT.

Occupied Slopes Dominating Palestine in Macedonia.

Saloniki, Tuesday, Oct. 1.—The following statement was issued at the Greek headquarters here last night:

"Greek troops have continued their advance in pursuit of the Bulgarians. In the region, said the north of Veles, they have occupied the heights north of Yenikoy and the slopes dominating Palestine."

At the allied headquarters the following statement was issued:

"By virtue of the terms of the convention signed at 10 o'clock p. m., Sept. 29, hostilities against the Bulgarians ceased at noon to-day."

BULGARIA DEFENDS STEP.

Made Peace Merely Because of the General Situation.

Paris, Oct. 2 (Havas).—Premier Malinoff appeared before the Bulgarian Parliament on Monday and read the speech from the throne, according to advice from Sofia by the way of Basil.

M. Malinoff, according to German papers, said the Bulgarian king and government intended only to fulfill their duty toward the fatherland in making an honorable peace that was worthy of the sacrifices which had been made. The reason for this step, M. Malinoff stated, was the general situation which confronted the country.

GIRLS! THICKEN AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF

Try This! Your Hair Gets Wavy, Glossy and Abundant at Once.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knowledge's Danderine now for a few cents—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and luster, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair, but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp. Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.—Adv.

ECZEMA WHEN NOT ONE YEAR OLD

On Neck and Head. In Water
Blisters. Cried Constantly.
Cuticura Healed.

"I was not a year old when I first got eczema. It came around my neck and my head in the form of water blisters that burst. My skin was sore and I had my flesh torn to pieces from the itching. I never slept and I cried constantly. What hair I had on my head came out completely."

"My mother was about giving up all hopes. A friend recommended Cuticura and after she had used six boxes of Cuticura Ointment and eight cakes of Cuticura Soap I was healed."

(Signed) Miss Carrie Doyle, 667 Saratoga St., E. Boston, Mass., June 27, 17. Keep your skin clear by daily use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

CABOT

From her son, Private Charles Barn 4th Co. C. 10th U. S. Infantry, A. E. F., serving in France, Mrs. E. H. Barnett of West Danville has received the following interesting letters, dated Aug. 31:

"Dear Mother and All: I will write you a few lines to let you know I am well and hope this finds you the same. I am not with any of the boys I knew at Camp Devens, as I have been transferred so many times. If I keep moving, my mail will never reach me. I have not heard from home since I left Devens, July 3, but am looking for a letter every day. How is everything going on at the farm? All O. K. You will probably be digging potatoes by the time you get this. They talk about 'sunny France.' It has been sunny enough since I have been here, but give me the old U. S. A. I always thought from what I heard that France was an up-to-date place, but they are about 90 years behind the times, or what I have seen of it, and I have seen some. The houses are all built of stone and cement. The villages do not look much like a village in Vermont. The land is rather sandy, but they raise some good crops, wheat and black oats, some corn, but I have not seen any very large pieces of potatoes. There are a lot of pears, plums and grapes here, and a lot of walnuts. I bought 50 cents' worth of nuts the other night and thought of you every one I ate. I suppose that Walter thinks that he is having it pretty hard, but I know now that the fellow that can stick to the farm is lucky and I think that I shall know enough to know it when I get back, as this is a great lesson to any fellow, and he will not be finding fault about every little thing when he gets back, now believe me. Well mother, some morning when you are getting breakfast, you can think of me eating my dinner. That does not seem possible, does it? I wrote to Mary and sent it to the same place. Is she still there? Is Lester working for Mr. Nelson yet? If not, what is he doing? Who is driving for John now? What do you hear from Carl and Ashley? Gee, but I would like to run out to Ashley here somewhere, I think that we would be the two happiest boys in France. But it is hard to find out where anyone is here, there are so many different companies and they are all over everywhere. Tell Walter to write and tell me all about the farm and what they are doing."

I ought to write five or six letters to-night, but am not going to write only this one. I do not have much time to write, and when I do, I write home, Charles.

Malcolm Beaton has purchased the J. G. Pike place at lower Cabot.

Miss Abbie Smith and Marion Drew came home Saturday from Montpelier seminary, ill with influenza.

The last shipment made of Red Cross garments was valued at $376.

Next Thursday evening there will be a patriotic address in town hall by Dr. Benton of U. V. M., Burlington. His subject will be on the Liberty loan.

Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien were guests of friends in Greensboro last week.

Miss Vera Rogers is ill with influenza at Montpelier seminary.

The harvest supper of the Congregational church was quite well attended, considering the inclemency of the weather. The net proceeds amounted to $33.03.

Cabot Junior-Senior High School Notes.
The town school fair was held Sept. 21 and was very successful. Exhibits were made by pupils from all over town. The exhibits of vegetables, sewing and cooking deserve special mention. Steers, pigs, rabbits and poultry were well represented, showing what the boys and girls of the town are doing to help in food production. Three ribbons were awarded in each lot. A total of 300 entries were made. The judges for the vegetables and stock were Prin. C. B. Story of Plainfield, Cary Smith of Cabot; for the sewing and cooking, Mrs. J. W. Butterfield, Mrs. M. F. Hale and Miss Marjorie Wells. Talks were given in the afternoon by the superintendent Butterfield and Rev. Arthur W.

Style in War-Time

Some young men may feel that it isn't patriotic to go in for style these days.

It isn't if you just buy clothes for style alone. Quality is of first importance every time; you must have it if you want to save for yourself and the nation.

The nice thing about it here is the fact that you get style in addition to quality; it doesn't make the clothes cost any more and it doesn't waste any material.

Hart Schaffner & Marx designers have produced some unusually smart suits and overcoats; you don't have to be told the quality's right—everybody knows it.
